An aerial photograph of a coastal town, likely Skiathos, Greece, taken during the "blue hour" of sunset. The foreground is dominated by the spiky, green leaves of a plant, possibly a Yucca or similar. Behind it, a dense cluster of white buildings with red-tiled roofs is visible. The town extends down to a rocky shore where several boats are moored. In the background, the calm sea stretches to a distant, hazy coastline under a soft, orange and pink sky.
